The background of the entire image is a light cream or off-white color with a subtle, crinkled paper texture. In each of the four corners, there are decorative illustrations of autumn leaves. The top-left corner features a small branch with several pointed, serrated leaves in shades of brown and tan. The top-right corner has a single, larger oak leaf with prominent veins and a wavy edge, colored in warm brown tones. The bottom-left corner shows a large, detailed maple leaf with a complex vein pattern and a deeply lobed edge, in vibrant orange and brown hues. The bottom-right corner contains a branch with several oval-shaped leaves, some green and some yellow, suggesting early autumn foliage.
